Friend,

Throughout 2019, most political organizations focused efforts on the upcoming presidential and Congressional elections, but at LGBTQ Victory Fund there is no such thing as an “off-year.” In 2019 we endorsed 178 openly LGBTQ candidates for school boards, city councils and state legislatures—more endorsements than in any other odd-numbered election year in our 29-year history. Sixty-six percent of our candidates won on their election nights, irrefutable proof that the 2018 Rainbow Wave was no anomaly. And these victorious candidates are already moving equality forward in their communities, inspiring even more LGBTQ people to run and win.

Victory Fund made 2019 the Year of the Lesbian Mayor, electing three out lesbian mayoral candidates in major American cities. I stood with Lori Lightfoot as results came in, showing that more than 70 percent of Chicago voters chose her to be their next mayor. It was a powerful moment, as I proudly passed to her my title as the highest-ranking openly LGBTQ mayor in U.S. history. But it was also just the beginning. Not long after, Satya Rhodes-Conway won in Madison, Wisconsin, and Jane Castor in Tampa, joining Jenny Durkin of Seattle and more than doubling the number of openly LGBTQ women who have served as big city mayors.

While down-ballot races were our priority in 2019, Pete Buttigieg’s candidacy presented Victory Fund with an unprecedented opportunity to provide crucial early support for the second openly LGBTQ presidential candidate in US history. We worked closely with his campaign on the formation of his exploratory committee and then on his official announcement, where I was honored to be on-stage as millions met Pete for the first time. Victory Fund endorsed Pete on the 50th anniversary of the Stonewall Uprising in New York City in front of a crowd of thousands—Pete’s first national endorsement and our first presidential endorsement as well. It was quite a ride. We are so proud of what he accomplished and we now know America is ready to elect an openly LGBTQ president.

The 2020 election cycle is going to be an exciting one, with Victory Fund endorsing more than 300 candidates to every level of government. We can double LGBTQ representation in Congress, elect out trans state senators for the first time, and increase the number of LGBTQ people of color in elected office. It is a promising year for Victory Fund and for our community. We are so grateful you are standing with us.

Onward,

Mayor Annise Parker

President & CEO, LGBTQ Victory Fund

March 2020

Shattering Lavender Ceilings

Historic Victories and Unprecedented Milestones

LGBTQ Victory Fund endorsed 178 openly LGBTQ candidates throughout the 2019 election cycle, more than in any odd-numbered election year in our 29-year history.

Year of the Lesbian Mayor

Three out lesbian mayoral candidates were elected to major cities in 2019—more than doubling the total number of out lesbians who have served as mayor of top 100 cities. Lori Lightfoot became the highest-ranking LGBTQ mayor in US history when Chicagoans elected her with an astounding 73 percent of the vote. Jane Castor became the first out LGBTQ mayor of Tampa and Satya Rhodes-Conway the first out mayor of Madison, Wisconsin. Victory Fund invested heavily in their races, along with Kansas City mayoral candidate Jolie Justus, who came up short on Election Night. Victory Fund dubbed 2019 the “Year of the Lesbian Mayor,” and national media agreed.

Transforming Presidential Politics

Mayor Pete Buttigieg became the first openly LGBTQ Democratic presidential candidate in American history when he announced his candidacy from South Bend, Indiana in April. Victory Fund engaged with the campaign for months in the runup to the announcement and provided critical early visibility and financial support. Victory Fund endorsed his candidacy in New York City on the 50th anniversary of the Stonewall Uprising—his first national endorsement. Mayor Pete went on to break new ground by speaking about his sexual orientation from the presidential debate stage and igniting a national conversation about the electability of LGBTQ people.

Mayor Annise Parker and Mayor Pete Buttigieg at the LGBTQ Victory Fund endorsement event for Mayor Pete in June 2019.

Transphobia Loses Again in Virginia

Virginia Delegate Danica Roem—the first openly trans state legislator ever elected—defeated an anti-LGBTQ opponent to become the first out trans state legislator ever reelected. Her victory makes clear that trans candidates can win battleground districts in battleground states despite opponents attempting to weaponize their gender identity. Victory Fund raised more than $122,000 for Danica, and endorsed five other trans candidates who also won election in 2019.

Victory Fund's Maya Ennis marks Danica Roem as a win shortly after it was called on Election Night.

Building Representation in Cities

With just four state legislatures with elections and no federal races, Victory Fund invested in building representation in major cities throughout 2019. Seventeen of America's top 100 cities grew LGBTQ representation thanks to Victory Fund-endorsed candidates who won their elections—leaders now on school boards, in city councils and serving as mayors. We also helped increase LGBTQ representation in smaller cities and towns across the country.

On the Nashville Metro Council, two openly LGBTQ incumbents were reelected and three non-incumbents elected, enough to start the council's first LGBTQ Caucus. Las Vegas elected its first openly LGBTQ councilmember, Raleigh its first two openly LGBTQ members, and Boston restored openly LGBTQ representation to its city council for the first time in more than 25 years. Indianapolis increased its openly LGBTQ city councilmembers from one to four.

Endorsements and Impact

A Victory Fund endorsement unlocks a suite of services for the candidate: campaign consulting, media assistance, fundraising support and other efforts to propel candidates to victory. Candidates undergo a rigorous review process by our political team to receive the endorsement, so only viable candidates with a path to victory get our seal of approval.

Just three percent of candidates that applied for endorsement and were denied ended up winning their races in 2019.

A Critical Endorsement: Early Believers in Lori Lightfoot

With 13 candidates in the Chicago mayoral race and polls showing Lori Lightfoot with little name recognition, many politicians were questioning her viability in late 2018. Yet Victory Fund's political staff reviewed her campaign plan, analyzed her fundraising efforts and recognized her messaging was perfectly aligned with the mood of Chicago voters. In December 2018, Victory Fund became her first national endorsement, nearly four months before the primary.

Later, Lori credited Victory Fund with providing her early credibility when she needed it most—vouching for her viability and opening new doors for fundraising. Victory Fund raised more than $57,000 for Lori, provided campaign, fundraising and media support, and went on the attack when homophobic flyers were distributed in key swing neighborhoods. On Election Night, Lori won all 50 Chicago wards and 73 percent of the vote.

Mayor Annise Parker—who was participating in get out the vote efforts for Lori in the days prior—was on-the-ground on Election Night. It was at her victory party that Mayor Parker passed to Lori the title she'd held since 2010: the highest-ranking LGBTQ mayor in U.S. history.

On the Ground

Victory Fund staff was on the ground with candidates across the country in 2019—some for a few days and others up to three weeks. Staff provided field strategy, GOTV and fundraising support to help candidates cross the finish line. On the ground support was provided for presidential candidate Pete Buttigieg, Chicago mayoral candidate Lori Lightfoot, Kansas City mayoral candidate Jolie Justus, Queens District Attorney candidate Tiffany Cabán, Mississippi state legislative candidate Carlton Smith, Texas state House candidate Eliz Markowitz and the five Nashville Metro Council candidates, among others.
